2. Ethics and Grievance

2.1 Employee Relations

At ProductSquads, we believe that strong employee relations are the foundation of a healthy, respectful, and productive workplace. We are committed to fostering an environment where every employee feels valued, heard, and empowered to succeed. Our approach to employee relations is built on mutual trust, transparency, and open communication.

Our Commitment

- To create and maintain a work culture that promotes dignity, fairness, and mutual respect.
- To encourage open dialogue between employees and management, ensuring concerns are addressed promptly and effectively.
- To handle grievances and conflicts constructively, confidentially, and in accordance with company policies and applicable labor laws.

Guiding Principles

- Respect: All employees are expected to treat one another with professionalism and respect, regardless of role, background, or opinion.
- Fairness: Issues or concerns will be handled in an impartial and unbiased manner.
- Open Communication: Employees are encouraged to raise concerns, provide feedback, and suggest improvements without fear of retaliation.

e« Confidentiality: Any discussions related to grievances or conflicts will be handled discreetly and shared only with relevant stakeholders on a need-to-know basis.

Maintaining a Positive Workplace

ProductSquads promotes proactive conflict resolution. Managers and HR are available to support employees in resolving workplace issues. Employees are encouraged to:

- Approach their manager or team lead for informal resolution.
- Reach out to HR for confidential discussions or formal grievance redressal.
- Use structured feedback channels for reporting any ethics violations or interpersonal concerns.

By fostering positive employee relations, ProductSquads ensures a work environment that supports individual well-being and drives collective success.

2.2 Grievance Redressal Policy

In the present scenario of competition, employees are the whole and sole of the Organization. For efficient working and smooth running of an organization it is important to see to the problems of the employees and create a healthy environment with good working culture. We believe in not only to recruit more and more staffs but also to retain them for longer duration towards the betterment and success of the Organization. Our organization has come up with lots of initiatives that are oriented to provide a better complaint redressal mechanism whenever any sort of grievances arises against the organization or against any staff.

Policy

Grievance redressal policy differs between large & small Organizations. A complaint lodged verbally by an employee will be treated as grievances. However, grievance will be regarded as formed when the dissatisfaction is given in writing. Such disputes which are of a reasonable magnitude arising out of ill feeling by an employee or group of employees may be regarded as grievance. The feeling of injustice may be related to wages, mode of its payment, leave, transfer, positions, promotion, and treatment by superiors, interpretation of code of conduct or even the food supplied in the canteen.

The idea of framing the policy is to solve the problem and the complaints of the staff. In this policy each and every staff has the right to express his/her grievance and there is a procedure to be followed. The policy has been formulated taking the following into consideration:

- Employees are always treated fairly.
- Complaints raised by employees are dealt with courtesy and on time.
- Employees are fully informed of avenues to escalate their complaints/ grievance within the Organization and alternative remedy if they are not fully satisfied with the response to their complaints.
- All complaints are dealt efficiently and fairly.

To make the redressal mechanism more meaningful and effective, a structured system has been built. This system would ensure that the redressal is fair and just within the given framework of rules and regulations so that the employees would be aware of the complaint handling process

Procedure

First stage

- When an employee faces any grievance, he/she has to report it to his/her immediate superior. Such immediate superior officer is expected to give reply or find the solution to the grievance within the time stipulated according to the gravity of the grievance made.

Original PDF Page 11

- If the matter is not settled or if the settlement made by him/her is not acceptable to the concerned employee, then the employee can directly contact the HR either through verbal communication or by submitting a written application in person or via mail.

- The investigator on this matter and bases on the findings it prepares a report to present before the concern authority who takes decision with the help of the submitted report.

The above stated mechanism is flexible depending upon the situation. In each stage, the way of presentation by the employer and the employee is transparent. If there is any ambiguity in the case a detailed investigation and proceeding for expert opinion would be considered.

Second stage (If he/she is not satisfied with the decision of HR)

- In second stage, the employee concerned will be permitted to present his/ her grievance with the help of co-workers to the Director who in turn listens to the grievance and tries to give a solution and constitutes a committee according to the merit of the case or issue put before him.

2.3. Discipline and code of conduct

In any social system, irrespective of its nature, it is important to determine a set of rules that will regulate the conduct of its members and should be observed in order to function successfully.

Similarly, it is important in the workplace to determine a set of rules to regulate the relationship between the employees and the employer in the form of a disciplinary procedure. The disciplinary procedure is regarded as a guideline and its interpretation is adequately flexible in order to adjust to various circumstances.

ProductSquads follows 'Disciplinary rules and code of Conduct' and no one is allowed to abuse the system while they are on duty. If any employee is found violating the system, then he/she shall be liable for disciplinary action.

1. Office time of the Organization starts from 11:00 am to 8:00 pm with one hour lunch break.

There is a weekly off on Saturday and Sunday. Management expects the employees to come to the office every day. If in case, they are not able to come to the office, they must inform to their reporting authority. Absence without information will be considered as a serious offence as it affects the activities of the organization.

2. Employees can receive their personal calls, but it should not disturb the others who are present in the Organization.

3. Employees are not allowed to waste productive time on personal phone calls for longer duration.

4. Employees should keep their cell/ mobile phones on Vibration mode while they are on duty.

5. Friends/ relatives are allowed to visit the office but it should not disturb other employees, and their visit should be brief.
6. No employee will use Organization's telephone, fax facilities and printing machine for private purposes except with prior permission from his/ her supervisors/ Reporting authority/ management. In case of emergency, such use is permitted.
7. Management will not tolerate if any employee found consuming Pan Masala, Gutka and Smoking Cigarettes or Spitting in the office premises or indulging in any such activities.
8. No one is allowed to maintain secrecy in user password, if they are using different password other than the password provided by the IT department, then the concerned employee is required to share it with the IT section.
9. Negligence of work by any employee will not be tolerable by the management. Management shall render an employee liable for disciplinary action.
10. Every employee is required to make the entry if they are taking any official belongings to their respective homes (i.e., books/magazine/laptop/pen drive etc.) and in case of any damage/ loss, then that particular employee is liable towards it.
11. Organizational conflicts should be raised and resolved within the organizational procedures. The issues of conflict should not be discussed with other Organization/News/Media.

Disciplinary code and Procedure

It is to regulate discipline in the workplace with key principle that the employer and the employees should treat each other with mutual respect. In the first instance the purpose of disciplinary action is to bring change in the behaviour in positive manner rather than to terminate services.

Before a problem becomes a disciplinary issue, the head of the team concern should guide inform or remind the employees informally on the applicable rule or performance situation. Such counselling is not viewed to form part of formal disciplinary action but is rather a part of day-to day communication within the organization. Formal procedures do not have to be invoked every time a rule is broken or standard is not met. Informal advice and correction is accepted as the best and most effective way to deal with minor violations of work discipline.

Repeated misconduct according to degree as severity may call for final warning or other action short of dismissal. Dismissal would be reserved for cases of serious misconduct or repeated offences. The seriousness of the offence will determine the action to be taken and not necessarily, the number of occasions the misconduct was committed. The procedure is as follows:

- = If any employee is found creating problems in the work place an immediate disciplinary action will be taken against him/her. The Director deposes a committee of two or three members of the organization or even he may depose any one from external source or any other partner organization in the committee.
- The committee members will do a detailed investigation on the matter and will prepare a report on the issue taken and submit the same to the Director.
- The Director makes the required decision on the findings of the investigations done.
- During this period of enquiry, the accused employee will remain under suspension.
- The above stated procedure is flexible depending upon the situation.

2.4 Personal Relationships in Workplace

At ProductSquads, we understand that personal relationships may develop between employees.

While we respect the personal lives of our team members, it is crucial that these relationships do not interfere with the work environment, professional behaviour, or team dynamics.

This policy aims to uphold a professional, respectful, and distraction-free workplace while mitigating potential risks arising from personal or romantic relationships in the office.

This policy applies to all employees of ProductSquads, including full-time, part-time, interns, and contractors.

Policy Guidelines

Professional Conduct and Boundaries

- All employees are expected to maintain a high standard of professionalism during working hours and within company premises.
- Any type of romantic behaviour—physical or verbal—on company premises is strictly prohibited. This includes but is not limited to public displays of affection, inappropriate communication, or behaviour that could make others uncomfortable.

Conflict of Interest

- Employees must avoid situations where personal relationships could compromise their objectivity, team collaboration, or create perceived favouritism.

- It is expected that all decisions made at work are based solely on merit and professional considerations.

Violations of this policy may lead to disciplinary action, up to and including termination, especially if the behaviour is found, heard, witnessed, or reported by other employees.

2.5 Outside Employment

Employee may not hold any type of outside employment as long as they are associated with ProductSquads without informing or taking prior permission from the top management.

Employee cannot receive any income or material gain from individuals outside ProductSquads for material produced or services rendered while performing their jobs.

Employees or associated members who improperly use or disclose trade secrets or confidential business information are subjected to disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment and legal action, even if they do not actually benefit from the disclosed information.

3. Human Resources Management

3.1 Recruitment, Selection and Onboarding

At ProductSquads, we follow a structured and transparent recruitment process to ensure we hire candidates who align with our technical requirements and cultural values. The process involves the following key steps:

Sourcing Channels

- Referrals from current employees
- Job portals (e.g., Naukri, LinkedIn)
- Recruitment agencies and consultants
- Company website and social media posts

Resume Screening

e« HR reviews applications and shortlists candidates based on role-specific skills, experience, and eligibility criteria.

- Screening also includes checking for relevant certifications, job stability, and alignment with job descriptions.

HR Round

« Conducted by HR to assess:

- Communication skills
- Cultural fit with ProductSquads values
- Availability, notice period, compensation expectations
- Willingness for specific shifts (day/night/remote) as applicable

Technical Round (ProductSquads)

« Conducted by internal technical team.

- Focuses on evaluating technical competencies, problem-solving, and project experience.
- May include live assignments, case studies, or technical discussions.

Client Interview (if applicable)

- Final evaluation by the client (if the candidate is being hired for a client project).

e« May involve technical/project-related discussions or managerial assessments.

Offer and Documentation

- Upon final selection, HR extends the offer letter along with relevant terms and conditions.
- All necessary documents (ID proof, education certificates, previous employment details) are collected followed by the BGV process.

Onboarding

- Once the offer is accepted, HR initiates the onboarding process.
- Includes introduction to company policies, tools, team, project, and setting up systems and accesses.

3.2 Buddy Policy

The Buddy Policy aims to enhance the onboarding experience for new hires by assigning them an experienced team member (Buddy) who acts as a guide, mentor, and support system at their first day in the organization.

Objective/ Purpose

- To help new employees integrate seamlessly into the company culture and their teams.
- To provide new hires with a reliable point of contact for day-to-day questions and guidance.
- To foster collaboration, knowledge sharing, and a welcoming environment.
- The Buddy Policy ensures that every new joiner feels welcomed, informed, and supported on their first day by assigning a dedicated team member to assist them.

Assignment of Buddy:

- When a new joiner joins the team, one existing team member will be assigned as their buddy.
- The buddy acts as a representative of the company and serves as the primary point of contact for the new hire throughout their first day.
- If that person is unable to make to the office that day so he/she would be responsible to assign new buddy from the team and must inform the HR beforehand.
- Collect the laptop from IT team 2-3 days prior to their joining for a smooth transaction on day one.

Responsibilities of the Buddy

1. Team Introduction

- Personally introduce the new joiner to all team members to help them feel welcome and comfortable.

2. Leadership Introduction

- Arrange a brief meeting or interaction with the team leader or relevant managers to establish connections early on.

Original PDF Page 17

3. Engagement Throughout the Day

- Keep the new joiner engaged on their first day, ensuring they feel included and supported.

4. Query Resolution

- Assist with any questions or concerns the new joiner may have. If unsure, guide them to the right resource for support.

5. Lunch Companion

- Accompany the new joiner for lunch, which will be sponsored by the company, providing an informal setting to connect.

6. Onboarding Assistance

- Guide the new joiner through onboarding processes, including setting up and accessing necessary tools and platforms.

7. Floor Announcement

- Introduce the new joiner to the wider team or department, creating excitement and a sense of belonging.

8. LinkedIn Post Support

- Help the new joiner craft and share a LinkedIn post about joining the company, ensuring a great first impression.

9. First-Week Check-ins

- Regularly check in with the new joiner throughout their first week to address any ongoing questions and offer support.

10. Encouraging Team Participation

- Encourage the new joiner to engage in team discussions, stand-ups, and informal gatherings to foster strong team connections.

3.3 Performance Management

Objective

To foster a culture of performance, growth, and accountability by recognizing and rewarding high-performing team members. This framework is built on a pay-for-performance philosophy, aiming to align individual contributions with company objectives.

ProductSquads follows a pay-for-performance approach, where salary increases and rewards are linked to individual performance outcomes. High-performing employees may receive:

- Merit-based salary revisions
- Performance bonuses
- Promotions or expanded responsibilities

A performance appraisal does not guarantee a salary increase. Final decisions depend on the performance rating, current compensation relative to role and responsibilities, and available budget. Any out-of-cycle increase requires pre-approval by the department head and HR.

Goal Setting

At ProductSquads, we encourage a collaborative, transparent, and structured approach to setting and aligning goals. The process includes:

Initial Planning:

- Managers and team members discuss and agree on 3-5 specific, measurable, achievable, relevant, and time-bound (SMART) goals.

- Goals should reflect:

- Team OKRs (Objectives & Key Results)
- Individual responsibilities
- Skills and behavioural expectations

Alignment:

- Goals must align with department objectives and company-wide priorities to ensure cohesive progress.

Mid-Year Check-In:

Original PDF Page 19

- A formal check-in to assess progress, provide feedback, and make goal adjustments (if needed).

Final Review:

- Evaluation of goal achievement during the performance appraisal process.
- Outcomes are used to determine overall performance ratings and rewards.

Performance Evaluation (360-Degree)

ProductSquads follows a 360-degree feedback system, combining insights from various stakeholders to ensure fairness and objectivity:

- Self-evaluation: Reflect on goal achievement, challenges, and contributions
- Manager's evaluation: Assess performance against agreed-upon goals and expectations
- Client feedback: Incorporated when applicable, especially for client-facing roles

Eligibility for Performance Appraisal

- Employees who join on or before 30th September are eligible for the performance appraisal in the following March.

Example: Joined on 15th Sept 2024 > eligible for March 2025 review.

- Employees who join on or after 1st October are eligible for the appraisal in March of the year after next.

Example: Joined on 10th Oct 2024 > eligible for March 2026 review.

« Employees who are on PIP or are serving notice period are not eligible for performance appraisal. \

Performance review schedule

- Annual Appraisal Period: January to December
- Review Criteria: 360-degree feedback, goal completion, impact on team/client deliverables

- Collaboration:

- Manager + HR jointly evaluate employee performance
- Manager, HR & Leadership hold calibration meetings to finalize ratings and salary decisions.

Appraisal on Notice Period

- Employees who have resigned or been terminated are not eligible to participate in the increment cycle or receive any increment at ProductSquads.

ProductSquads reserves the right to modify, suspend, or terminate this Performance Management Framework at any time, with or without notice, at its sole discretion.

3.4 Bonus Policy

Objective

The purpose of this Bonus Policy is to recognize and reward employees for their valuable contributions, encourage collaboration, and promote a culture of high performance. By offering biannual bonus payouts, this policy aims to:

- — Incentivize individual and team achievements
- Foster a sense of shared success across the organization
- Reward both collective company performance and individual excellence

Performance-Based Bonus:

The performance-based bonus is designed to reward employees for achieving specific targets. The bonus is contingent upon meeting or exceeding predetermined performance goals at both the individual and team levels.

- — Eligibility: This bonus is based on achieving the performance targets set at the beginning of the evaluation period.

- 360-Degree Performance Evaluation: We follow a 360-degree performance evaluation cycle for bonus as mentioned above.

Bonus Disbursement Timeline

Bonuses are disbursed twice a year in accordance with the following timeline:

1. January to June Period:

- Payout: The bonus for this period will be paid along with the August salary.
- — Eligibility: Employees who joined before 1st April are eligible for this bonus payout.

- Scope: This period covers the first half of the year and includes assessments based on company performance, as well as individual and team contributions.

2. July to December Period:

- Payout: The bonus for this period will be paid along with the February salary.
- — Eligibility: Employees who joined before 1st October are eligible for this bonus payout.
- Scope: This period covers the second half of the year and similarly evaluates individual, team, and company performance.

Bonus on Notice Period

- Employees who have resigned or been terminated are not eligible to participate in the bonus cycle or receive any bonus at ProductSquads.

Financial Performance & Discretion:

- The company reserves the right to adjust or withhold bonuses in the event of financial constraints or other unforeseen circumstances.
- Bonus amounts may vary depending on the company's financial health, ensuring that rewards are distributed based on available resources.

Review and Adjustments:

The company reviews the bonus policy periodically and may make adjustments to reflect changes in company priorities, market conditions, or employee performance expectations.

3.5 Professional Development Policy

Objective

This policy outlines ProductSquads' commitment to fostering a culture of continuous learning and growth, ensuring employees are equipped with the knowledge, skills, and experiences needed to succeed in their roles and grow within the organization.

Roles and responsibilities

- Employees:

Take ownership of personal development by identifying learning needs and participating in available programs.

Original PDF Page 22

- Managers:

Support team members' growth by identifying skill gaps, suggesting appropriate development activities, and providing feedback.

- HR Department:

Facilitate access to training resources, track development progress, and coordinate company-wide learning initiatives.

Development Opportunities

- All employees can use LinkedIn Learning for self-paced skill development, and managers may recommend courses to support individual or team growth.
- Participation in external programs must be relevant to the role and pre-approved by the reporting manager and HR.
- The company may cover partial or full costs depending on available budgets and business needs.

This policy will be reviewed periodically to ensure it aligns with business goals and employee development needs.

ProductSquads reserves the right to amend, modify, or terminate this policy at its discretion based on organizational needs.

3.6 Separation

Type of separation

- Voluntary Separation: Resignation, retirement, or mutual agreement to part ways.
- Involuntary Separation: Termination due to performance issues, misconduct, redundancy, or other business needs.

Notice Period:

Employees are required to provide written notice of resignation as per their employment contract 60 days.

The company may waive or shorten this period at its discretion.

Notice Period During Probation:

Employees serving their probation period are required to provide a 15-day written notice in the event of resignation. Similarly, the company reserves the right to terminate employment during the probation period by providing 15 days' notice.

Exit Process:

- « Submission of resignation or receipt of termination notice.
- Completion of handover and knowledge transfer.
- Return of company property (e.g., ID cards, laptops, documents).
- Exit interview conducted by HR.
- Settlement of final dues including salary, benefits, and any outstanding reimbursements.

Final Settlement:

Final payments will be processed as per company policies.

Confidentiality and Non-Compete:

Employees must honour confidentiality agreements and any post-employment restrictions outlined in their contracts.

The company reserves the right to modify or amend this policy at any time.

3.7. Employment Termination

Termination of employment is an inevitable part of personnel activity with any organization, and many of the reasons for termination are in routine. Below are examples of some of the most common circumstances under which employment is terminated.

- Resignation—voluntary employment termination initiated by an employee.
- Discharge—involuntary employment termination initiated by an employee.
- Lay off—involuntary employment termination by the organization for non-disciplinary reason.
- Retirement—voluntary employment termination initiated by the employee meeting age, length of service, and any other criteria for the retirement from the organization.

One can get the complete process & conditions regarding termination from employment, in the standing order of ProductSquads (Available with HJMAN RESOURCE DEPARTMENT)

3.8 Notice Period

The notice period at ProductSquads is 60 days. However, in the event of a client-initiated termination, the last working day with the client will also be considered as the last working day at ProductSquads.

Leave during Notice Period

At ProductSquads, employees are expected to serve the full 60-day (2-month) notice period as part of a smooth transition and knowledge handover.

Employees are eligible for up to 1 day of leave per month during the notice period, subject to prior approval from their reporting manager.

Guidelines:

1. Permitted Leave:

- In the first 30 days, employees may take up to 1 day of leave.
- In the next 30 days, they may again take up to 1 day of leave.
- These 2 total leave days (1+1) are considered as part of the notice period and do not require extension.

2. Excess Leave:

- If the employee takes more than 1 days of leave in any month, it will be considered leave without pay.

3. Approval & Communication:

- All leaves during the notice period must be pre-approved. Uninformed or unapproved absences may result in disciplinary action or adjustment in final settlement.

4. Work from home:

- Employees are not allowed to take work from home during their notice period.

4. Employment Status and Records

4.1 Employment Categories

It is the intent of ProductSquads to clarify the definition of employment classification so that the employee understands their employment status and benefit eligibility.

REGULAR FULL-TIME employees are those who are not in a temporarily or probation status and who are regularly scheduled to work as per ProductSquads full time schedule. Generally, they are eligible for ProductSquads benefits package subject to term, conditions and limitations of each benefits program.

PROBATION, 90 days, is that period when an employee's performance is being evaluated to determine whether further employment in a specific position or with ProductSquads is appropriate. Employees who satisfactorily completes the probation period are notified of their new employment classification.

CONTRACTUAL employees are those who are hired as interim replacements to temporarily supplement the work force or to assist in the completion of a specific project. Employment assignments in this category are of a limited duration. Contractual employees retain that status until and unless they are notified of a change. Contractual employees are ineligible for any of ProductSquads's benefit programs.

4.2 Access to Personal Files

ProductSquads maintains a personal file on each employee. The personal file includes such information as the employee's job application, resume, record of training, documentation of performance appraisal and salary increases, and other employment record.

Personal files are the property of ProductSquads, and access to the information they contain is restricted. Generally, only HJMAN RESOURCE personnel have the access to these files.

Employees who wish to view to their own file should contact the HUMAN RESOURCE with reasonable advance notice; employee may review their own personal files in ProductSquads office and in the presence of an individual appointed by ProductSquads to maintain the files.

4.3 Personnel Data Change

It is the responsibility of each employee to promptly notify ProductSquads of any changes in personal data. Personal mailing addresses, telephone numbers and name of the dependents, individuals to be contacted in case of emergency, educational accomplishments, and other such status reports should be accurate and current all the time. If any personal data has changed, notify the HR.

4.4 Employment Applications

ProductSquads relies upon the accuracy of information contained in the employment application, as well as the accuracy of other data presented throughout the hiring process and employment. Any misrepresentation, falsification, or material omissions in any of these information or data may result in the exclusion of the individual from further consideration for employment or, if the person has been hired, termination of employment.

6. Time Keeping / Pay Roll

6.1 Time Keeping

At ProductSquads, we believe in fostering a culture of trust, responsibility, and mutual respect. While we do not follow a traditional punch-in/punch-out system, we do expect all employees to uphold high standards of professionalism and accountability when it comes to time management.

Work Hours and Attendance

e« ProductSquads offers a flexible work environment without rigid tracking systems. However, full-time presence during working hours is expected each working day, unless otherwise approved (e.g., remote work, client visits, or leave).

- The standard workday is typically aligned with the business hours of 9:30 AM to 6:30 PM IST, but variations may exist depending on the team's or project's needs.

« Employees are expected to be present, punctual, and engaged during the core working hours and ensure availability for team collaboration, meetings, and project deliverables.

Flexibility with Accountability

- Flexibility is provided to accommodate occasional personal needs or emergencies, but this is not to be misused.

- Managers may track attendance informally by team check-ins, performance updates, and availability during key working hours.

Absence or Late Arrival

- — If you are running late or unable to attend work on a particular day, it is your responsibility to notify your reporting manager in advance.

Original PDF Page 33

- Frequent or unreported absences may be reviewed and addressed by the HR team and management.

Why This Matters

- While we value flexibility, a consistent presence builds trust, encourages team collaboration, and maintains productivity.

- The absence of a punch-in system is based on mutual trust, and we expect employees to respect that by being reliable and committed.

6.2 Pay Day

All employees and associated members are paid on or before 5th of every month. Each pay (Cash/ Bank) includes earnings for all work performed till the end of previous pay roll period.

In the event that a regularly scheduled pay day falls on an off day such as a weekend or holiday, employees and associated members receive pay before the regular pay day.

Employees receive salary slip from ProductSquads HR department. Currently all employees or associated members get the payment through Bank. Payment will be made through Kotak Bank.

- Subjected to the bank rules and policies.

7. Work Conditions and Hours

7.1 Policy Statement

ProductSquads expects its employees to achieve and maintain a high standard of ethics, professional conduct and work performance to ensure the Company to maintain its reputation with all internal and external associated members.

Objective

To enhance ProductSquads 's reputation as a quality service provider and an enjoyable, stimulating and challenging place to work

Application

The policy is said to be successfully applied when all employees are seen to performing their duties professionally as well as with skill, care and diligence.

This includes:

- Observing ProductSquads policies and procedures
- Treating colleagues with courtesy and with respect for their rights, duties and aspirations
- Employees who do not conform to this standard of conduct are subject to disciplinary action as detailed in this manual.

7.2 Work Schedule

The normal work schedule for all the employees and associated members are 8 hours (Excluding 1 hour lunch break) per day, i.e. Monday to Friday. Staffing needs and operational demands may necessitate variations in beginning and ending times, as well as variations in the total hours that may be scheduled each day and week.

An employee is considered absent if he or she is not present for work on scheduled time.

Since delay in arrival or unnoticed absentees put extra work load on fellow employees and hamper smooth run of the company, reporting for work regularly and on time is essential. This must be in the daily discipline of the employee.

Failure in reporting to work on time and tardiness will result in disciplinary action up to and including termination.

7.3. Dress Code

The choice of attire is of personal discretion. But every employee of any organization bears the responsibility of representing it and, therefore, positive well done clothing and a professional look is needed here at marquee Impex. A positive and professional look sheds heavy weight on the company's image as well as the colleagues.

As a minimum standard, dress should be clean, neat and professionally appropriate.

The following are examples of items that are not acceptable:

- Ripped or torn clothing
- Thongs or sports sandals
- Sportswear or beachwear

ProductSquads reserves the right to request a staff member to dress to an appropriate standard as a condition of employment.

If one is found in inappropriate clothing he/she may be sent back to change as per the professionally accepted way before commencing the day's work.

7.4 Personal Communications

Phone Call

Please ensure that making and receiving personal phone calls does not disturb others on the floor.

Email

Email has legal status as a document and is accepted as evidence in a court of law. Even when it is used for private purposes, ProductSquads can be held responsible for the contents of email messages, including any attachments. Access to emails can be demanded as part of legal action in some circumstances.

It is therefore important that email is used within the following guidelines:

- Email should mainly be used for formal business correspondence and care should be taken to maintain the confidentiality of sensitive information. Formal memos, documents and letters for which signatures are important, should be issued on company letterhead regardless of whether a physical or electronic delivery method is used.
- Non-essential email, including personal messages, should be deleted regularly from the 'Sent Items', 'Inbox' and 'Deleted Items' folders to avoid congestion.
- All emails sent should include the approved company disclaimer.

In order to protect ProductSquads from the potential effects of the misuse and abuse of email, the following instructions are to be observed by all users.

- No material is to be sent as email that is defamatory, in breach of copyright or business confidentiality, or prejudicial to the good standing of ProductSquads in the community or to its relationship with staff, customers, suppliers and any other person or business.
- Email is not to contain material that amounts to gossip about colleagues or that could be offensive, demeaning, persistently irritating, threatening, and discriminatory, involves the harassment of others or concerns personal relationships.
- The email records of other persons are not to be accessed except by management (or persons authorized by management) engaged in ensuring compliance with this policy, or by authorized staff who have been requested to attend to a fault, upgrade or similar situation. Access in each case will be limited to the minimum required to complete the task.
- When using email, a person must not pretend to be another person or use another person's computer without permission.
- Excessive private use, including mass mailing, "reply to all" etc. that are not part of the person's duties, is not permitted.

Failure to comply with these instructions is an offence and will be subjected to appropriate investigation. In serious cases, the penalty for an offence or repetition of an offence may include dismissal.

7.5 Overtime

ProductSquads does not support any overtime policy. Employees are expected to complete their assignments within the assigned working hours.

However, in exceptional cases, overtime work must be pre-approved by the reporting manager. Compensation for approved overtime will be paid at the rate of Rs. 400/hr.

7.6 Employee Conduct & Discipline

Employee Conduct And Work Rule

To ensure orderly operations and to provide the best possible work environment, ProductSquads expects employees to follow code of conduct that will protect the interests and safety of all the employees and the organization.

It is not possible to list all forms of behavior that are considered unacceptable in the workplace.

The following are examples of infractions of rules of conduct that may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.

- = Theft or inappropriate removal or possession of property.
- Falsification of timekeeping records.
- = Working under influence of alcohol or illegal drugs.
- Possession, distribution, sales, transfer, or use of alcohol or illegal drugs at workplace, while on duty, or while operating employer-owned vehicles or equipment.

- Sexual or any other mode of harassment.
- Possession of dangerous or unauthorized materials.
- Excessive absenteeism or any absence without notice.
- Unauthorized disclosure of business “secrets” or other confidential information.
- Violation of personal policies.
- Unsatisfactory performance or conduct.

7.7, Return of Property

Employees and associated members are responsible for all the ProductSquads properties, materials, or written information issued to them or in their possession or control. Employees must return all ProductSquads property immediately upon termination of employment. Permitted by applicable law, ProductSquads may withhold employees' final pay. The cost of any items that is not returned when required. ProductSquads may also take all necessary action deemed appropriate to recover or protect its property.

7.8 Problem Resolution

ProductSquads is committed to providing the best possible working conditions to its employees and associated members. Part of this commitment is encouraging an open and frank atmosphere in which any problem, complaint, suggestion, or question receive a timely response from management of ProductSquads.

ProductSquads strive to ensure fair and honest treatment of all employees. Head of the department, Managers, employees and other associated members are expected to treat each other with mutual respect. Employees are encouraged to offer positive and constructive criticism.

If employees disagree with established rules of conduct, policies, or practices, no employee will be penalized, formally or informally for voicing a complaint with ProductSquads in a reasonable and in business-like manner.

Not every problem can be resolved to everyone's total satisfaction but only through mutual understanding and discussion in supportive environment that employees and management can develop confidence in each other. This confidence is important for operation of an efficient and harmonious work environment, and helps to ensuring everyone's job security.

10. Sexual Harassment

Policy Statement

ProductSquads is committed towards ensuring employees to be treated fairly and equally in an environment free of intimidation and sexual harassment. Sexual harassment is an unacceptable form of behaviour which cannot be tolerated under any circumstances. It is also unlawful. Cases of sexual harassment are treated seriously and promptly, with due regard to confidentiality.

Disciplinary action will be taken against any employee who breaches the policy.

Sexual harassment is any unwanted, unwelcome or uninvited behaviour of a sexual nature which makes a person feel humiliated, intimidated or offended. Sexual harassment can take many different forms and may include physical contact, verbal comments, jokes, propositions, the display of offensive material or other behaviour that creates a sexually tense or hostile working environment.

Sexual harassment can occur between an employee and a co-worker, supervisor, manager, agent, consultant or contractor.

Sexual harassment is not just unlawful during working hours or at the workplace itself. But also behaviour is unlawful in any work-related context including conferences, work functions, business or field trips, and interactions with clients.

ProductSquads encourages any employee who feels they have been harassed to contact the manager and HR. ProductSquads aims at providing a working environment which is free of workplace harassment or intimidation.

ProductSquads recognizes comments and behaviour that do not offend one person can offend another. Management accepts individuals may react differently and expects this right to be generally respected.

Any complaint or report of sexual harassment is treated promptly, seriously and sympathetically. They are investigated thoroughly, impartially and confidentially. Managers and supervisors must act immediately on any reports of sexual harassment. Employees are not disadvantaged in their employment conditions or opportunities as a result of lodging a complaint.

Appropriate disciplinary action is taken against anyone in this company's employment who is found to have sexually harassed a co-worker. Depending on the severity of the case, consequences can include an apology, counselling, dismissal, demotion or other forms of disciplinary action.

Immediate disciplinary action is also taken against anyone who victimizes or retaliates against a person who has complained of sexual harassment.

ProductSquads has a legal responsibility to prevent sexual harassment.

Therefore, managers and supervisors have a responsibility to:

- Monitor the working environment to ensure acceptable standards of conduct are observed at all times.
- Model appropriate behaviour themselves.
- Treat all complaints seriously and take immediate action to investigate and resolve the matter.
- Refer complaints to another manager if they do not feel they are the best person to deal with the case (e.g. if there is a conflict of interest or if the complaint is particularly complex or serious)

All employees have a responsibility to:

- Comply with the organization's sexual harassment policy.
- Offer support to anyone who is being harassed and let them know from where they could get help and advice (they should not approach the harasser themselves)
- Maintain complete confidentiality if they provide information during the investigation of a complaint (employees who spread gossip or rumours may expose themselves to defamation action)

Objective

To foster a professional, open and trusting workplace.

Application

The sexual harassment policy will be successfully applied when all staff are treated on merit by their managers, by peers, by direct reports and by all other team members.

Process

Making a Complaint:

If you believe you are being, or have been, harassed, follow the procedure below:

- Inform the offender the behaviour is offensive, unwelcome, and against company policy and should stop (only if you feel comfortable enough to approach them directly)

- Keep a record of the incident(s)
- If the unwelcome behaviour continues, contact your supervisor or manager for support
- If this is inappropriate, you feel uncomfortable, or the behaviour still persists, contact your manager

Receiving a Complaint:

When a manager receives a complaint, he/she should follow the procedure below:

- Listen to the complaint seriously.
- Treat the complaint confidentially.
- Allow the complainant to bring another person to the interview if he/she chooses to.
- Ask the complainant for the full story, including what happened step by step.
- Take notes, using the complainant's own words.
- Ask the complainant to check your notes to ensure your record of the conversation is accurate.
- Explain and agree next action with the complainant

- If investigation is not requested:

- = Act promptly
- = Maintain confidentiality
- = Pass your notes on to your manager
- If investigation is requested, or is appropriate, follow the procedure outlined.

Investigating a Complaint:

When a manager investigates a complaint, he/she should follow the procedure below:

- Interview all concerned, separately
- Interview witnesses, separately
- Keep records of interviews and investigation
- Do not assume guilt

- Interview the alleged harasser, separately and confidentially
- Let the alleged harasser know exactly what he/she is being accused of
- Give him/her a chance to respond to the accusation
- Listen carefully and record details
- Make it clear he/she does not have to answer any questions
- Ensure confidentiality, minimize disclosure
- Determine appropriate action based on investigation and evidence collected
- Check to ensure the action meets the needs of the complainant and company

If any resolution is not immediately possible, the complainant should be referred to the higher senior management.

If the resolution requires the authority of a more senior manager, the complainant should be referred to the appropriate level.

Outcomes as they affect the complainant should be discussed with the complainant to ensure that needs are met.

Potential Outcomes:

If the complaint is found to be justified, the complainant may be entitled to any or all of the following:

The complainant may receive:

- Commitment the behaviour will cease
- Private apology (verbal or written)
- Re-credit of any leave taken due to the harassment
- Payment of medical and counselling expenses
- Transfer, with no job disadvantage
- Other compensation
